More than 85% of users say that PsychiatryOnline.com has lived up to their expectations, and 77% of librarians consider the site to be a good value for the money.

“I like the site for its comprehensive psychiatry coverage, and for its attractive design and ease of navigation...I visit other medical websites, and find this one to be of a superior caliber with regard to above.”

“I found the site very practical and effective in the specific areas that I wanted information about, without searching through textbooks and finding incomplete information. PsychiatryOnline gave all the information required plus more that I hadn't considered as part of my search.”

“Ease of access and comprehensive library are what I find most attractive about PsychiatryOnline.com. I use the site regularly and appreciate the free PDF downloads for patients.”

“I really find the journals and DSM library incredibly helpful for my clinical practice, research, and academic work. It's nice to have everything in one organized interface.”

“As a decentralized library service in a developing country, electronic access to our material is vital. Having DSM-IV-TR® online has meant that we now buy one subscription across three separate facilities for our academic users at three separate hospitals, and it has been used to great benefit. Our patrons really like this facility.”

“I'm really glad that our university hospital has a subscription because it is very useful especially in the ER when trying to make a diagnosis.”
