ABOUT US

The American Journal of Psychiatry, the most widely read psychiatric journal in the world, is the journal that the overwhelming majority of psychiatrists considers essential, and no other psychiatric journal reaches more psychiatrists with greater impact or immediacy.

AJP’s latest Impact Factor of 12.295 places this journal in the top 1% of the more than 8600 scientific, technical, and medical journals for which this quality of research indicator is calculated. AJP also publishes research of great clinical relevance, as exhibited by the three AJP articles that Journal Watch Psychiatry announced in its top 10 psychiatry articles of clinical importance in 2014 (no other journal had more). Plus an AJP article about a possible genetic marker for suicide risk, which could lead to a blood test, was ranked as one of the top science stories of the year. This publishing for the field and for the future is why AJP was recently honored as one of the 100 most influential journals in all of biology and medicine.

AJP is 79% editorial and 21% advertising. All new advertisements are subject to editorial review and approval. APA Publishing is not responsible for minor periodical manufacturing imperfections that do not distort the integrity of the advertising message.
